Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 1-5 contain allowable subject matter over the prior art of record.
2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The claimed invention is directed to a tape transport apparatus comprising a tape running means and a tape driving means for driving the tape running means. The independent claims identify the feature of "the control means reducing an output supplied to the drive means by detecting a load applied to the tape or the drive means during the tape running in a fast forward running mode or rewinding mode", or the feature of the "controller reducing an output voltage supplied to the drive motor when the rotation number detected by the detector being lower than a predetermined rotation number in a fast forward running mode or a rewinding running mode". The closest prior art, Yoshino discloses a conventional relative velocity control device for magnetic recording/reproducing apparatus, either singularly or in combination fails to anticipate or render the above underlined limitations obvious.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Doyama et al discloses an apparatus for reproducing information at variable speeds from a magnetic tape.

Kim discloses a tracking control method and apparatus for video recorder which adds a combined first and second tracking error signal to the next tracking error signal.

Yoshino discloses a conventional relative velocity control device for magnetic recording/reproducing apparatus.
